WHAT IS A COMPLAINT?

A complaint is an expression of dissatisfaction made to or about an organisation, related to its products, services, staff or the handling of a complaint, where a response or resolution is explicitly or implicitly expected or legally required. This also includes such expressions of dissatisfaction made about us on a social media channel or account owned or controlled by us, where the person making the complaint is both identifiable and contactable.

The Australian Financial Complaints Authority ('AFCA') has jurisdiction to review complaints from an 'Eligible Person', which is defined in its Rules to include:

- b) a partnership comprising of individuals – if the partnership carries on a business, the business must be a Small Business;

- d) a Small Business (whether a sole trader or constituted as a company, partnership, trust or otherwise);
- e) a club or incorporated association – if the club or incorporated association carries on a business, the business must be a Small Business;

- f) a not-for-profit organisation or club – if it carries on a business, the business must be a Small Business unless the not-for-profit organisation or club is also a charity registered with the Australian Charities and Not-for-Profits Commission;
- g) a body corporate of a strata title or company title building which is wholly occupied for residential or Small Business purposes; or
- h) the policy holder of a group life or group general insurance policy, where the complaint relates to the payment of benefits under that policy.

TRAINING AND MANAGEMENT OF COMPLAINTS

Employees with responsibility for complaints handling are required to complete Lloyd's Coverholder eLearning module and additional training as necessary. Aircrew Insurance staff handling complaints are properly resourced and provided with sufficient authority.

We are committed to identifying any recurring issues that may lead to a complaint, which could relate to product design, underwriting practices, claims handling, or customer service. Details of complaints are recorded and analysed by management every 6 months.

Where a customer raises a complaint, we investigate the root cause and seek to fix any wider issues. This root cause analysis is fundamental in prioritising our operational plans to improve the customer experience. This process is divided into the following phases.

1. Identifying Issues - Analyse complaint data to identify trends or recurring issues. Categorise complaints by type, root cause, and policy/product affected. Engage with employees and brokers for insights into underlying causes.
2. Conducting Analysis - Review processes, documentation, and communication associated with complaints. Involve relevant stakeholders to ensure a comprehensive understanding.
3. Review Frequency - Conduct 6 monthly reviews of complaint trends and root cause analyses. Perform immediate reviews for significant complaints or systemic issues.
4. Utilising the Information - Implement corrective actions (e.g. process improvements, training). Update internal controls and risk assessments. Share learnings with underwriting, claims, and compliance teams to prevent recurrence. Report findings to Lloyd's as required.
